DESCRIPTION

The Grand Paris Express is the new metro that will link the main places of life and activity in the suburbs without passing through Paris. This project, which will contribute to the transformation of the Île-de-France region, is being carried out by the Société des Grands Projets.

The Grand Paris Express is the transport and development project that will make it easier and quicker for you to move from suburb to suburb without going through Paris.

The aim for this station is to be ready by the Paris Olympics in 2024.

Some numbers:

Four new automatic metro lines will serve the inner and outer suburbs.

In total there will be 68 stations, designed for passenger comfort and open to the city.

Some 15,000 jobs will be created to realise the entire project by 2030.

CHALLENGES

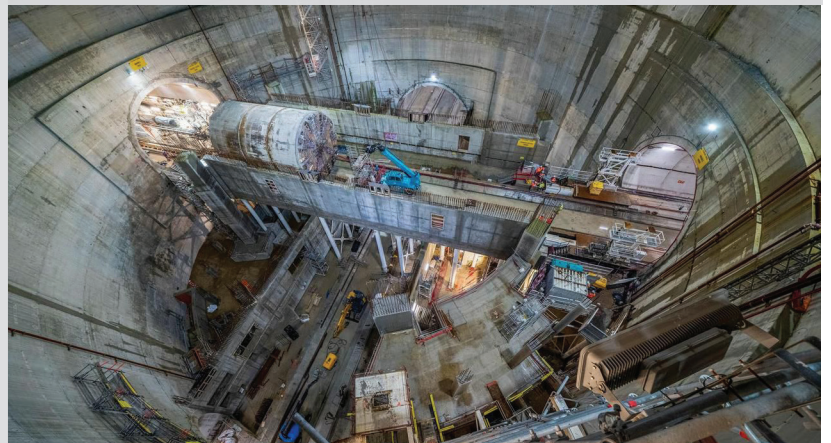

The main challenge for this project was to allow the cable tray and wire tray to meticulously follow the curve of the rounded building.

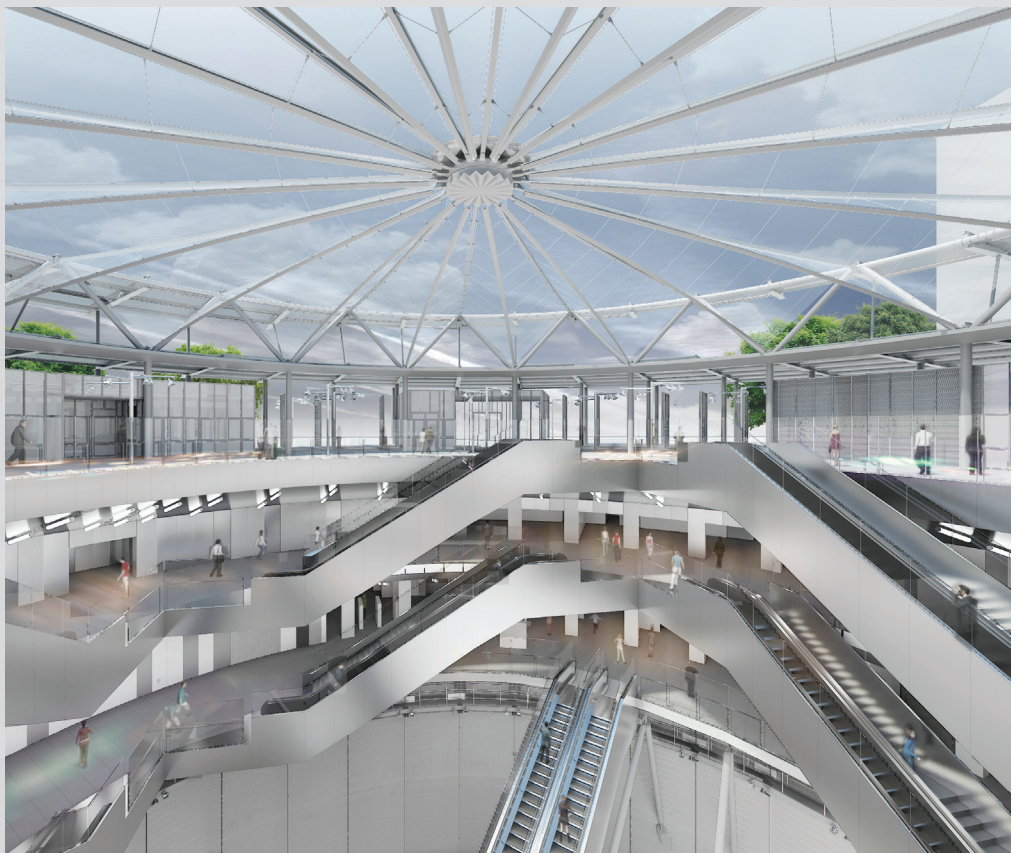

SOLUTION

The VH (adjustable corner) brought the solution we needed. This piece allows us to 'bend' the tray in the same curve as the walls of this demanding structure.

Although being a challenging project, we had all the tools in our standard portfolio to provide a solution that pleased both the architect and Société des Grands Projets. It was the great teamwork with the colleagues of Vergo Galva and Vergo Coating that put the icing on the cake, making sure we reached all the deadlines!
